Europe at a Crossroads

TIMELINE OF EVENTS, 1950-2016

1951

1952

1953

1954

1955

1956

1957

01 MARCH The Treaty of Rome, which creates the European Economic Community (EEC), is signed by Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands. The treaty establishes a customs union between the six states. Within 10 years, tariffs between the six countries will be abolished.

1958

1 JULY Walter Hallstein takes office as the first President of the European Commission. Hallstein, Germany, had been a key figure in the drafting of the Treaty of Rome.

1959

14 FEBRUARY The first President of the European Court of Justice is sworn in. Established by the Treaty of Rome, the court is responsible for ensuring that EEC law is interpreted and applied consistently in all member states and settles disputes between governments and EEC institutions. Its judges are appointed by the governments of the member states.

1960

4 JULY Austria, Britain, Denmark, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland sign the Stockholm Convention, establishing the European Free Trade Association (EFTA). The aim of EFTA is to remove trade barriers between its member states.

1961

10 OCTOBER The first President of the European Court of Justice, Italian Massimo Pilotti, dies in office. He is succeeded by Andreas Matthias Donner, a Dutch lawyer and professor of constitutional and public law. Donner will serve as President of the court for nine years.

1962

31 JULY Ireland applies to join the European Economic Community. Ireland's application is followed by those of Britain, Denmark and Norway. The Irish Republic's application is the first to be made after the Treaty of Rome came into force.

1963

14 JANUARY President Charles de Gaulle of France vetoes Britain's application to join the European Economic Community. De Gaulle argues that Britain is not ready to join the EEC and that it is too closely tied to the United States. The French veto means that Britain's application is suspended.

29 NOVEMBER The Irish Republic's application to join the European Economic Community is suspended.

1964

1965

8 APRIL The Merger Treaty is signed in Brussels. The treaty establishes a single Commission and Council of Ministers for the European Coal and Steel Community, the European Economic Community and the European Atomic Energy Community.

1966

28 JANUARY The European Monetary Union (EMU), the European Economic Community's plan for economic and monetary union, is published. The plan envisages the creation of a single European currency by 1980.

1967

1 JANUARY Austria, Britain, and Denmark join the European Union.

1968

1969

1970

1971

1972

1973

1 JANUARY Britain, Ireland and Denmark join the European Economic Community (EEC). Britain's membership of the EEC is opposed by the Labour Party, which argues that membership will damage the British economy.

1974

1975

5 JUNE The European Economic Community (EEC) votes to remain in the EEC in a referendum. Two-thirds of those who vote support membership. The referendum is the first national referendum to be held in Britain.

1976

1977

1 JANUARY Greenland withdraws from the European Economic Community. Greenland, which is part of Denmark, withdraws from the EEC after its people vote against membership in a referendum. Greenland's withdrawal is the first withdrawal from the EEC by a territory.

1978

1 JANUARY Greece joins the European Economic Community. Greece's membership is opposed by the Communist Party of Greece, which argues that membership will damage the Greek economy.

1979

7 JUNE The first direct elections to the European Parliament are held. Voters in the nine member states of the European Economic Community elect 410 members of the European Parliament. The elections are held over four days, from 7 June to 10 June.

17 JULY The European Parliament elects Simone Veil as President. Veil, a former French minister, is the first President of the European Parliament to be elected by direct universal suffrage.

13 NOVEMBER The first session of the European Parliament to be elected by direct universal suffrage ends in Strasbourg.

1980

1981

1 JANUARY Greece becomes the tenth member of the European Economic Community (EEC). Greece's membership is opposed by the Communist Party of Greece, which argues that membership will damage the Greek economy.

30 JUNE The European Parliament passes the Genscher-Colombo declaration, which calls for the creation of a European Union. The declaration is named after Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the German Foreign Minister, and Emilio Colombo, the Italian Foreign Minister, who drafted the declaration.

14 JULY Francois Mitterrand, the socialist candidate in the French presidential election, defeats Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, the incumbent President. The presidency of the Fifth Republic has been dominated by the right since the creation of the Fifth Republic in 1958. Mitterrand's victory is the first victory for the left since the creation of the Fifth Republic. The election is also significant because it is the first presidential election to be held in May.

19 OCTOBER The European Parliament votes to reject the European Union Treaty. The treaty, which was drafted by the European Commission, is rejected by 237 votes to 31. The treaty is rejected because it does not go far enough in creating a federal Europe.

14 DECEMBER The Council of Ministers of the European Economic Community (EEC) meets in Stuttgart. The meeting is held under the auspices of the European Council, which is the EEC's highest decision-making body.

1982

14 SEPTEMBER Britain and the EEC sign the Gibraltar Airport Agreement. The agreement allows Britain to build an airport on the Spanish territory of Gibraltar. The agreement is opposed by Spain, which claims sovereignty over Gibraltar. The agreement was a condition of Spain's membership of the European Economic Community (EEC), which it joined in 1986.

14 DECEMBER The European Parliament votes to reject the draft treaty on European Union. The draft treaty was drawn up by the European Commission. The treaty is rejected because it does not go far enough in creating a federal Europe.

1983

19 MARCH In Athens, after the summit of the European Economic Community, Greek Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou calls for better "non-bloodthirsty relationships" to be built up between Europe and the Arab countries. Papandreou's call is criticized by Israel.

19 JUNE The European Parliament votes to reject the draft treaty on European Union. The draft treaty was drawn up by the European Commission. The treaty is rejected because it does not go far enough in creating a federal Europe.

1984

1985

7 FEBRUARY The Single European Act (SEA) is signed in Luxembourg by the European Economic Community's ten member states. The SEA is the first major revision of the Treaty of Rome. The SEA aims to create a single market by 1992 and to increase the powers of the European Parliament.

1986

1 JANUARY Spain joins the European Economic Community (EEC). Spain's membership is opposed by the Communist Party of Spain, which argues that membership will damage the economy of Spain.

1987

1 JULY The Single European Act (SEA) comes into force. The SEA is the first major revision of the Treaty of Rome. The SEA aims to create a single market by 1992 and to increase the powers of the European Parliament.

1988

1989

7 DECEMBER The European Parliament votes to reject the draft treaty on European Union. The draft treaty was drawn up by the European Commission. The treaty is rejected because it does not go far enough in creating a federal Europe.

1990

1991

1 JANUARY Austria, Finland, and Sweden join the European Union.

1992

7 FEBRUARY The Maastricht Treaty is signed in the Netherlands by the European Economic Community's twelve member states. The treaty establishes the European Union (EU) and creates a single currency, the euro. The treaty also establishes the European Central Bank (ECB) and the European Monetary Institute (EMI). The treaty is opposed by some who argue that it will transfer too much power from national governments to the EU.

2 JUNE The Danish people vote against the Maastricht Treaty in a referendum. The treaty establishes the European Union (EU) and creates a single currency, the euro. The treaty also establishes the European Central Bank (ECB) and the European Monetary Institute (EMI). The treaty is opposed by some who argue that it will transfer too much power from national governments to the EU.

16 SEPTEMBER Black Wednesday: the pound sterling is forced out of the European Exchange Rate Mechanism (ERM). The pound's withdrawal from the ERM is a humiliation for the British government. The government had spent billions of pounds trying to support the pound's value against other currencies in the ERM.

18 SEPTEMBER The Danish people vote against the Maastricht Treaty in a referendum. The treaty establishes the European Union (EU) and creates a single currency, the euro. The treaty also establishes the European Central Bank (ECB) and the European Monetary Institute (EMI). The treaty is opposed by some who argue that it will transfer too much power from national governments to the EU.

1993

1 JANUARY The Maastricht Treaty comes into force. The treaty establishes the European Union (EU) and creates a single currency, the euro. The treaty also establishes the European Central Bank (ECB) and the European Monetary Institute (EMI). The treaty is opposed by some who argue that it will transfer too much power from national governments to the EU.

1994

1 JANUARY The European Monetary Institute (EMI), the forerunner of the European Central Bank (ECB), is established in Frankfurt.

9 JUNE The European Parliament elects Jacques Santer as President of the European Commission. Santer, Luxembourg's Prime Minister, is the candidate of the European People's Party, which is the largest party in the European Parliament. Santer's election is opposed by Britain, which argues that he is too federalist.

24 JULY The European Parliament votes to reject the draft treaty on European Union. The draft treaty was drawn up by the European Commission. The treaty is rejected because it does not go far enough in creating a federal Europe.

9 OCTOBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

13 NOVEMBER Norway votes to reject membership of the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Irish referendum on membership of the European Union.

1995

1 JANUARY Austria, Finland and Sweden join the European Union.

1 JANUARY The European Monetary Institute (EMI), the forerunner of the European Central Bank (ECB), is established in Frankfurt.

15 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

16 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

19 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

20 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

21 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

22 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

23 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

24 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

25 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

26 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

27 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

28 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

29 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

30 SEPTEMBER The Irish Republic votes to join the European Union in a referendum. The referendum is held on the same day as the Norwegian referendum on membership of the European Union.

1996

1997

10 SEPTEMBER Under the Amsterdam Treaty, which is signed in the Dutch capital, the European Union's institutions are reformed in preparation for enlargement. The Amsterdam Treaty is signed by the European Union's fifteen member states.

2 OCTOBER The Dublin Convention comes into force in the European Union.

2 OCTOBER The Amsterdam Treaty is signed in Amsterdam. The treaty amends the Maastricht Treaty and the Treaty of Rome. The Amsterdam Treaty is signed by the European Union's fifteen member states.

1998

1 APRIL The European Monetary Institute (EMI), the forerunner of the European Central Bank (ECB), is established in Frankfurt.

1 JANUARY The European Monetary Institute (EMI), the forerunner of the European Central Bank (ECB), is established in Frankfurt.

1 JANUARY The Amsterdam Treaty comes into force in the European Union. The treaty amends the Maastricht Treaty and the Treaty of Rome. The Amsterdam Treaty is signed by the European Union's fifteen member states.

1 JANUARY The European Monetary Institute (EMI), the forerunner of the European Central Bank (ECB), is established in Frankfurt